Investment process overview

Seek quality companies at attractive valuations

Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Investing involves risk, including possible loss of principal. Equity markets are subject to many factors, including economic conditions, government regulations, market sentiment, local and international political events, and environmental and technological issues that may impact return and volatility. Mid-cap stocks may have additional risks including greater price volatility. The strategy may have an increased potential for loss because its portfolio includes a relatively small number of holdings. Movements in the prices of the individual assets may have a magnified effect on the portfolio.

The Russell 1000 Index represents the top 1,000 companies by market capitalization in the United States. The index is a subset of the Russell 3000 Index. The Russell 1000 index comprises about 93% of the total market cap of all listed stocks in the U.S. equity market. Information regarding the comparison to the Russell 1000 Index is available upon request.

Composite performance results are based on fully discretionary accounts under management, including those accounts no longer with the firm. Gross performance shown does not reflect the deduction of investment management fees and certain transaction costs, which will reduce portfolio performance. Net performance results reflect a reduction for investment advisory fees based on the firm's applicable asset management fee schedule. Effective March 2021, composite net performance is calculated using the highest applicable fee as shown in the composite fee schedule. Prior to March 2021, composite net returns were derived based on the aggregation of underlying portfolios net returns that were either calculated by applying actual client fees for non-affiliated clients or a model tiered fee schedule for affiliated clients, unless otherwise noted. Composite net returns after January 1, 2011, are inclusive of performance-based fees (where applicable). Performance-based fees are accounted for on a cash basis. Prior to January 2003 certain commingled funds which returns may be utilized in a Composite's performance track record had net returns that reflected a deduction for administrative fees in addition to direct trading expenses and investment management fees. Therefore, the average fees will be higher during these time periods.

Each portfolio included in the composite is managed according to its own individual investment restrictions and limitations and therefore their characteristics may vary from those of the Representative Portfolio shown. Portfolio performance, characteristics and volatility may differ from the benchmark shown. Holdings and weightings are subject to change daily. The holdings listed should not be considered a recommendation to purchase or sell any security and there is no assurance an investment in these securities will be profitable.
