A concentrated "best ideas" approach that focuses on owner-operators

- A wide latitude to depart from index weights results in higher active share and more concentrated top holdings than peers.
- Aligned incentives: Owner-operators tend to be passionate and cost conscious. We believe they have longer-term outlooks and are better capital allocators.
- An experienced team with a history of delivering excess risk-adjusted returns over market cycles.

Investing in high-quality companies led by owner-operators

High-quality business with a sustainable competitive advantage

Businesses with owner-operator management or culture

Focused on risk reduction throughout the entire process

Valuation discipline builds in a margin of safety*

The investment strategy may not perform as intended, and you may experience a gain or a loss. *Margin of safety is a term used for when the market price of a stock is significantly below its intrinsic value. Investing involves risk, including possible loss of principal.

Why allocate to a portfolio:

- Long-term U.S. equity holding: Strategy aims to outperform large-cap indices through market cycles with less risk.
- Complementary to indices: The highly active approach complements passive core equity holdings because companies with large inside ownership (the owner-operators the team emphasizes) are underrepresented in indices.

Reported FactSet data is subject to revision over time, which may result in slight differences among data points reported during the same period. Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Investing involves risk, including possible loss of principal. Equity markets are subject to many factors, including economic conditions, government regulations, market sentiment, local and international political events, and environmental and technological issues that may impact return and volatility. The strategy may have an increased potential for loss because its portfolio includes a relatively small number of holdings. Movements in the prices of the individual assets may have a magnified effect on the portfolio.

Performance reflects the Aligned Focused Blue Chip Equity institutional composite and does not reflect any actual SMA portfolios. Results are based on fully discretionary institutional accounts under management, including those accounts no longer with the firm. The historical institutional composite may consist of various types of institutional accounts including individually managed institutional accounts and open-end mutual funds.

The Russell 1000[®] Growth Index measures the performance of those Russell 1000[®] companies with higher price-to-book ratios and higher forecasted growth values. Information regarding the comparison to the Russell 1000 Growth Index is available upon request.
