While Section 529 Plans can, under some circumstances be an effective way to facilitate intergenerational wealth transfer, a Section 529 Plan should be evaluated in light of other estate transfer planning vehicles such life insurance, trusts and other gifting strategies eligible for gift tax exclusions or gift tax exemptions. Your evaluation of wealth transfer objectives and of wealth transfer strategies should be conducted with the involvement of your tax advisors and an estate planning attorney. A Section 529 Plan does have limitations on account transfers and withdrawals are subject to penalties if not utilized for payment of qualified education expenses. This is general information and should not be construed as tax or investment advice.

Idea: Using RMDs to fund a 529 plan

At age 73 you have to begin taking money annually out of your tax qualified retirement accounts (such as a traditional IRA) in the form of required minimum distributions (RMDs). These are taxable.

Option A

Invest the RMD in a taxable savings account and pay taxes on the earnings and when you use it

Age 73

Option B

Fund a 529 plan, minimizing gift tax and growing/ compounding tax free

Nearly all retirement accounts are subject to the RMD rule, such as IRAs, 401k, 403b, 457b and Keogh.

Financial aid

Financial aid is needs based and is determined by:

The Student Aid Index (SAI)

What is it:

- SAI is the new measure of a student's ability to pay for college. It can move into negative territory, as low as -1,500, to give greater insight into those families with exceptional need.

Families and siblings :

- The new FAFSA form looks at each student as an individual and doesn't take into account the number of students attending college simultaneously.
- For dependent students, education savings will only be counted as a parental asset if the account is designated for the student.
- If parents are divorced or separated, the parent that needs to fill out the FAFSA is the one who provides the greatest financial support to the student, rather than the parent who the student lives with

What is no longer included in the calculations?

- Beginning with the 2024-25 award year, distributions from a non-parent-owned 529 savings account, such as a grandparent-owned 529, will not be counted as the student's untaxed income in the FAFSA application.
- Pre-tax contributions to retirement accounts, including 401(k)s, IRAs and Roth IRAs, will no longer be counted in a family's ability to pay for college.
